

Privacy and Data Collection on <https://readyforresilience.ca> :

ReadyForResilience.ca does not collect personal or traffic information. This is a volunteer-managed website as a free public service. We do not sell anything and do not receive money or commissions for listings or referrals.

The web host company, Weebly.com collects routine traffic information anonymously to provide the functionality of the website - see here for info.

Any websites linked or referenced on our pages have their own policies regarding user privacy and information collection, which are detailed on those websites. We have no control or influence on these and make no claims regarding their use or standards.